

Raoul Simpson - Video/Lighting artist and designer

Raoul Simpson (b1976, England), a self taught lighting / video artist brings his experiences and techniques from over a decade spent as a lighting / video designer within the entertainment industry to the realm of interactive public art. Having designed bespoke private commissions and concerts around the world for a host of private and corporate clients from MTV to Cirque du Soleil. He now concentrates on recycling the techniques and type of equipment used within large scale special events to create art works, so that people may broaden their horizons as to the technical possibilities available thorough such methods. The following represent the variety of Raoul's work:
